

UNISON Cleaners' Conference

If you work in hospital cleaning or represent hospital cleaners, don't miss UNISON's Cleaners Conference this November.

This flagship event in UNISON's ongoing campaign to recognise and celebrate the role that cleaners play in today's NHS takes place at TUC Congress Centre in London on Tuesday 3 November 2009.

The conference will place under the spotlight all the key issues facing hospital cleaning staff and their critical role in finding real solutions to tackling healthcare associated infections.

Sessions will emphasise the practical steps necessary for bringing together the experience, skills and knowledge of cleaning staff to influence decision making positively at a local level.

The conference will offer the stimulating views of expert speakers, but most importantly there will be plenty of chances for delegates to contribute to the debate in plenary sessions and a variety of workshops.

We very much hope that you can join us.

To obtain a registration form contact your UNISON branch secretary or download the form direct from the UNISON website at www.unison.org.uk/healthcare/ancillary.

Completed forms must be returned by 12 August 2009 to book your place.
